

 Solution

RemitOne

Enables financial institutions to offer customers a consolidated approach to submitting federal, state and local payments.

RemitOne allows business owners to pay multiple tax types in one interaction through an online transaction, through an IVR, a file upload submission or an API, providing customers a flexible interface that can be tailored to address the needs of their business.

A prebuilt tax type addendum makes it easy to create and send accurate ACH credit tax payments to government entities, while ensuring the customer's privacy by not sharing the client's account information.

RemitOne offers a convenient alternative to mailing checks or having to go to multiple payment sites, while helping users comply with mandates established by taxing entities. The easy-to-use web interface lets businesses pay all of their federal, state and local payments in one place.

Benefits to Businesses

- Customer access to transaction history and file submission results
- User management controls that allow customers to establish dual process control for payment submission
- Highly stable payments infrastructure that experiences a 99.99% uptime
- Same Day ACH capability
- One-stop shop for federal, state and local tax payments
